

Sana Dubarry

Digital Advisor & Sustainability Lead

Over the past 17 years, I have worked in senior marketing & digital transformation consultancy positions with world's leading companies, focusing on growing results by defining and delivering digitally enhanced and data-oriented transformation programs. Internationally experienced, I am a creative thinker, driven by the opportunity to identify and solve business problems and to create innovative go-to-market strategies. As Digital Advisor and Sustainability lead at Microsoft, I work with clients to analyze their business models, their operations and technology capabilities to create comprehensive sustainable plans to drive positive environmental impact.
