Director Digital Advisory Manufacturing & Retail

As Managing Principal of the Digital Advisory practice at Microsoft France, I oversee a team of senior digital advisors selling and delivering high value services to CxOs in the Manufacturing and Retail verticals. These services encompass envisioning, designing, and implementing solutions in the fields of data and AI, infrastructure, modern applications and collaboration.

Previously, I ran the innovation and strategy division at Expleo, a global manufacturing focused professional services firm, with a sales responsibility on digital offers and held a managing position at BCG focusing on Operations. I started my career in the aerospace sector holding different leadership roles at international level in Engineering and Sales in Airbus.
