

The logo for the Aerospace Additive Manufacturing Summit. It features a stylized red and white graphic of an aircraft wing or a similar shape on the left. To the right, the text "AEROSPACE" is in a large, bold, black sans-serif font. Below it, "ADDITIVE MANUFACTURING" is in a smaller, bold, black sans-serif font, and "SUMMIT" is in an even smaller, bold, black sans-serif font.

AEROSPACE ADDITIVE MANUFACTURING SUMMIT

Bruno Darboux

President

Bruno Darboux is currently Vice-President for the Aerospace Ecosystem Development at Corporate Affairs in Airbus, which he joined in 1998. He supervises actions to ensure that the European and global aerospace ecosystem engages proactively and collectively in the development of new sustainable technologies and a decarbonized aviation. In parallel he holds several positions within the aeronautics and space industry: at the CORAC (French Council for Research in Civil Aeronautics), at the SESAR European Programme (Single European Sky ATM Research) and at the IAEG, the International Aerospace Environmental Group, a trade association defining common practices across the Aerospace industry for environmental matters.

Since September 2021, he is the president of Aerospace Valley, the number 1 European competitiveness cluster for the aerospace industry.