Elena Lopez

Head of Department for Additive Manufacturing

Dr. Elena Lopez studied chemical engineering at the Universidad de Valladolid in Spain and Friederich-Alexander-Universität Erlangen-Nürnberg in Germany. She finished her PhD thesis about the topic of plasmachemical etching of silicon solar wafers at the Technische Universität Dresden, Germany. After focusing on CVD technologies, she moved to Printing and Additive Manufacturing Technologies in 2014. She is Head of Department for Additive Manufacturing at Fraunhofer IWS. Furthermore she leads a big AM consortium named Agent-3D with more than 100 companies involved.
