

Sophie Voinis

Journalist

Sophie Voinis is a journalist & professional facilitator.

She studied in Boston, Emerson college, in the US, where she graduated in journalism and communication in 2001. She was responsible for the daily newscast on the campus radio and also anchored the news on TV, on a regular basis. She has been working on TV for the past 20 years, in Boston, USA and in France, Toulouse on the local TV, TLT. For the past 15 years, she was the main anchor for the daily newscast as well as the health magazine and the weekly space and Aeronautic show.

Her expertise goes from filming, interviewing, editing and anchoring in all journalism fields.

She is also a mediator in various conferences, debates or gala nights both in French and in English, and often provides media training sessions both in french and in english.

She lately anchored the Closing Conference « Grenelle de l'Education » for the French Ministry of Education, the launch of Alpha Mission with French Astronaut Thomas Pesquet, The national conference on the Weekly Space European programs in Marseille, the southwest Europe railroad financing project, the Aerospace Summit in Brussels, and the annual conference for Groupama (1900 people attending).

She was also Master of Ceremony for many Airbus deliveries in English, the IFAC World Congress and the ESOF Ceremony in English (5.000 people attending) and hosting both live shows on the take-off and landing of Perseverance NASA mission for CNES (1,2M views).