

Juan Romero

Operational Excellence and Industry 4.0 Director

Juan has more than 10 years' experience and a solid background in performance improvement, quality management and operational excellence in the aeronautics industry. In his current position as Quality and Operational Excellence Director, he oversees the definition, implementation and upkeep of the roadmap, processes and tools of high-quality performances and benchmark practices.

Throughout his professional experience, he has focused on promoting operational excellence culture along with the methods and tools. He is engaged in supporting companies in this transformation through action in the field and empowering people. Recently, his interest is focused on the improvement of the Lean practice by creating connections with Industry 4.0 and Agile frameworks.