Amaury Joly

Application Engineer

Thanks to his background in materials science and industrial engineering, combined with Materialise's 30 years of experience, Amaury's specialty is training users on two aspects: the entire Materialise software suite and Metal AM. Working closely with Materialise customers, Amaury uses his unique combination of technical expertise and communication skills to train engineers to get the most out of Metal 3D Printing by discovering, employing, and optimizing their use of software solutions, workflows, and/or applications.
